Cultural Humility: Preserving & Affirming the Identities of System-Involved Children

A youth's positive self-identity is tied to their psychological wellbeing, but when a child is removed from their community, their positive racial, cultural, linguistic, and ethnic bonds may be lost. Join your colleagues at CPCS, DCF, JDAI, FRC, CIP, Judges, and community members as we learn about the importance of identifying, understanding, preserving and affirming aspects of a youth's identity.

This series will build on the lessons from each session, but attendance at all sessions is not required to sign up (though highly recommended).

We'll provide practical tips each one of us can implement to affirm our clients' identities and ensure that they are seen and treated as whole human beings. We'll tackle barriers we're likely to face and walk away with concrete tools you can use that same day and moving forward to support youth in becoming their authentic and amazing selves!
